Police officer injured as items thrown in scuffle

TWO MEN CHARGED FOLLOWING OXFORD EDL PROTESTS

THREE people were arrested and a police officer injured after protests by the English Defence League (EDL) in Oxford on Saturday.

Hundreds of officers lined the streets in Oxford as EDL members made their way from the train station to St Aldate's Police Station.

During the protest a police officer suffered cuts to his head after objects were thrown.

Two people were charged with public order offences on Sunday.

Christopher Bishop, 49, of Evans Lane in Kidlington and Daniel Williams, 24, of Cromer Road, Bristol, will appear at Oxford Magistrates' Court on May 12.

They were both charged with one count of using threatening words or behaviour to cause harassment, alarm or distress.

No further action was taken against a 45-year-old from Summertown arrested for not moving on from an area after being told to by police.

Superintendent Christian Bunt, local area policing commander for Oxford, said: "I am pleased that these demonstrations have passed off without major incident."

Plaudits for nurse who saved her patient's life

A MENTAL health nurse from Oxford who helped a suicidal patient turn her life around is in the running for a national award.

Kelly Hayes has been nominated in the Patients Choice category of the Nursing Standard Nurse Awards in recognition of her care and compassion.

She was put forward by her patient Susan Hemming, who has suffered from mental health problems all her adult life.

When she first met Kelly - an Oxford Health NHS Trust nurse - two years ago, Susan was at rock bottom after being unable to go to university because of dyslexia.

"I had given up on life," said Susan. "I was reverting to my anorexia, self-harming daily, feeling suicidal and without any hope.

"Kelly believed in me. Every time I was ready to give up on life she convinced me life hadn't given up on me yet and neither had she."

Kelly convinced Susan to sit the entrance test for a college course, and though she failed, Kelly encouraged her to try again.

Susan got a tutor and studied hard, and is now at university studying occupational therapy.

"I wouldn't be alive today if it wasn't for Kelly," Susan added.

"I know if she has done all this for me, there are many more people she has given a lifeline and hope to, and I am eternally grateful for her.

"Nobody in my life believed I could do it, least of all me, except for Kelly that is."

Kelly said: "It is such an honour to be nominated, and even more so to be shortlisted.

"Even though Susan is very capable, caring and talented, she found it difficult to look to the future, so I encouraged her to follow her dream and I kept the positivity going when she found that hard.

"Her hard work, ability and dedication have led to her achieving her goal and I am so very pleased for her."

Voting is underway for the awards, and votes can be cast as nurseawards.co.uk/740 until April 29.

Kelly will find out if she has won at a ceremony at The Savoy in London on May 1.

Battle of the Blues: The Boat Race 2015

THE 161st clash of oars between Oxford and Cambridge universities' rowing clubs will take to the River Thames in London on Saturday.

Oxford is defending the title they have won for the last two years, but Cambridge still lead the overall standings 81-78.

And for the first time in its history, the women's race will be staged on the same day and the same course as the men's, an hour beforehand.

One of those in the Oxford squad for the women is Caryn Davies, who with two gold medals and one silver is the most decorated Olympian ever to compete in the race.

She said: "I am honoured to represent Oxford on this momentous day.

"By racing on the same day and over the same course as the men, my teammates and I are sending a visible and powerful message to women all over the world – the effort and success of women is just as important as that of men."

The women's race gets underway at 4.50pm, while the men's event starts at 5.50pm.

Both start on the Thames at Putney Bridge and see the eight rowers and a cox power 4.2miles upriver to Mortlake.

Last year's race proved a controversial one – remembered for a clash between the crews just over five minutes into the race.

Oxford pulled ahead to beat Cambridge by a huge 32 seconds, but protests by Cambridge's cox were quashed by stewards who ruled Cambridge were out of position.

And 2012 is down in the history books as the year the race had to be halted when a man plunged into the Thames ahead of the boats.

Organisers are hoping this year's mark will be made for being the first time the men's and women's races take place together.

Go to oxfordshireguardian.co.uk for details of the crew lists and an update about Saturday's race.

X Factor in town

OXFORD: TV talent contest The X Factor is in Oxford today on the lookout for the next big popstar or group.

Auditions are being held at the Clarendon Centre in Cornmarket Street from 9am to 6pm today as part of the show's moving audition tour.

Singers can turn up on the day in a bid to wow the panel with their talents, which could lead to them being broadcast on the show later in the year.

Oxford is one of more than 20 towns and cities across the UK hosting auditions.

X Factor creator Simon Cowell said: "If you think you have the potential to be a world-class star, this is your chance to prove it."

Roads closed

OXON: The A420 westbound carriageway from the A34 to the B4017 junction at Cumnor has closed for embankment stabilisation and resurfacing works.

The road closed on Tuesday, and is expected to remain shut until May 30.

It comes as the section of Cow Lane, in Didcot, under the railway bridge has closed for more than a month as repair works to the bridge take place.

It also shut on Tuesday, and isn't expected to reopen until May 17.

MP hopefuls

OXON: A shortlist of parliamentary candidates standing in each constituency for votes on May 7's election is to be published today, Thursday.

Prospective candidates have until 4pm to submit their nomination forms to the returning officer.

Oxfordshire's six constituencies are Oxford East, Oxford West and Abingdon, Witney, Wantage, Henley and Banbury.

Police out in force for EDL Oxford protests

• From front page

He added: "Disruption was kept to a minimum and we are grateful for the support we received from local businesses and communities.

"There were a few arrests made over the course of the day, but the majority of those taking part were well behaved."

The EDL chose Oxford after the publication last month of the serious case review into child exploitation in the city.

By Adam Flinn
adam@taylornewspapers.co.uk

A statement on their website said: "We are doing this for the girls still being abused in Oxford and the many, many more still being abused by Muslim gangs across the country."

A counter-demonstration by campaign group Oxford Unite Against Fascism was held on the same day, with scuffles breaking out between the two sides.

Their spokesperson Tracy Walsh said: "The EDL is a racist organisation that is always seeking to demonise Muslims.

"It wants to cynically exploit the terrible suffering of abused children in Oxfordshire to mount yet another attack on all Muslims, stating it wants to 'keep a blowtorch on the Oxford Muslim community'.

"The money spent on policing the EDL would have been better spent on support and protection for vulnerable children."

City councillors have also spoken out against the EDL's protests in Oxford.

Bob Price, leader of Oxford City Council, said: "The EDL is not welcome in our city.

"We strongly endorse the right to demonstrate and to assembly, but these rights must be qualified in respect of organisations which explicitly seek to promote the criminal offence of racial hatred or to instil division in our communities.

"This is a crude attempt to attack the good name of a whole community on the basis of crimes committed by a group of vile individuals, from a variety of backgrounds.

"The people of Oxford, as elsewhere in the country, will not stand for such attempts at division, and will continue to strive for a community based upon tolerance and mutual respect."

Littlemore 270 homes plan set to be decided

LITTLEMORE could get 270 new homes after councillors debated whether to grant outline planning permission for 104 houses and 166 flats off Armstrong Road last night.

Oxford City Council's East Area Planning Committee was recommended to approve the plans by council officers as the Guardian went to press.

The plans have been submitted by Oxford University Hospitals NHS Trust, who own the land as it was formerly part of the Littlemore Hospital site.

A number of concerns had been raised about the plans, including the impact on local infrastructure, by residents ahead of last night's meeting.

David Henwood, vice chair of Littlemore Parish Council, said in comments to the city council that they objected to the plans because of 'over-development'.

Other issues put forward include the amount of traffic that would have to use Armstrong Road, lack of public amenities, and a risk of flooding.

But in planning officer Andrew Murdoch's report to councillors, he said: "The proposal is considered to be acceptable in terms of the relevant policies."

He added: "Therefore the officer's recommendation is to approve the development in principle."

The plans were submitted to the council in October.

Detailed plans will still have to get final approval.

See next week's Guardian for the full story on the decision.

Marking the Magna Carta anniversary

YOUNGSTERS across Oxfordshire are being given the chance to visit the Houses of Parliament to debate with politicians later in the year, as part of events commemorating the 800th anniversary of the Magna Carta.

The Find Your Voice programme, run by Oxfordshire County Council's libraries, celebrates the Magna Carta and the origins of democracy.

Young people aged 13 to 21 can write, design exhibitions, create films and take part in drama and dance projects.

They will also get to go to the Bodleian's new Weston Library in Oxford to see the 1217 Magna Carta on display.

Jillian Southwell, head of the council's library service, said: "Find Your Voice is part of an initiative to use libraries as cultural venues in addition to all of the things for which they are already known and loved.

"We also hope this will be a new way of attracting young people into libraries.

"We hope this groundbreaking project will become a national template for libraries."

More details are available at any of the county's 43 libraries.

Body identified as missing girl

THE body of a woman found in the River Thames in Oxford on March 27 has been identified as that of missing 22-year-old Emily Stiff.

Police confirmed the identification of Emily on Tuesday afternoon – 11 days after the body was discovered in the river off Weirs Lane.

She had been missing from her home in Oxford since February 24, with police divers searching the river twice before her body was reported by a member of the public.

It is understood that officers used dental records to identify Emily's body.

Her death is currently being treated as unexplained, but it is not believed to be suspicious.

Emily's next of kin have been informed.

Fireman lifting the lid on bowel cancer

By Adam Flinn
adam@taylornewspapers.co.uk

• Guy Dunkley (red shirt) with fellow firefighters at Slade Park Fire Station

A FIREFIGHTER who survived bowel cancer is hoping to promote better awareness of the disease by backing national Lift the Lid Day this month.

Guy Dunkley, 50, station commander at Slade Park Fire Station in Headington, was diagnosed with bowel cancer in 2010 after noticing blood on toilet paper.

A colonoscopy revealed Mr Dunkley, from Eynsham, had a tumour the size of a £2 coin, and had to have surgery to remove it.

And he has now given his support to Lift the Lid Day on April 22, being organised by charity Beating Bowel Cancer.

"Most people are comfortable talking about issues like breast cancer and prostate cancer, but are far less so talking about bowel cancer," said Guy.

"Mention bums and poo and you can see people cringe.

"Because of the speed and nature of my treatment, I required no follow up chemotherapy or radiotherapy, and so my recovery was much, much quicker.

"I cannot stress enough that if you are experiencing any symptoms at all, don't hesitate for a single second to make an appointment with your GP."

Lift the Lid Day urges people to speak with family, friends, colleagues and neighbours about the disease and raise awareness of the symptoms.

Figures from the charity say that around 90 per cent of bowel cancer patients will survive for more than five years if it is diagnosed early, but this drops to 10 per cent if found later.

Beating Bowel Cancer chief executive Mark Flannagan said: "One in four of us are affected by bowel cancer in some way, either directly or through family members and friends.

"Yet it's rarely talked about because people are often too embarrassed to discuss the disease and its symptoms.

"As part of Bowel Cancer Awareness Month this April, we hope people in the local area will join Guy in supporting Lift the Lid Day."

Abingdon Hydro project reaches the £800k mark

THE share offer for the Abingdon Hydro project – to install two Archimedes screws on the River Thames generating electricity – has closed, having raised £800,000.

More than 400 investors have put money into the project.

Building work is to start next to Abingdon weir later this year.

The offer for shares was launched back in November with a target of £1.25million to build the facility.

Although they didn't reach their target, directors of the project are pleased with the money raised.

The shortfall is to be made up by loans.

Richard Riggs, who set up the project, said: "This is an exciting and busy time.

"We are now confirming design and tender details for manufacturers and for construction later this year."

Fellow director Penny Clover added: "We've had fantastic support to raise the monies needed to construct the two Archimedes screws to generate up to 100kW power at Abingdon weir."

Most investors are from the local area.

Mum Ruby gave birth at 12.30pm on March 27 after a 15-month pregnancy.

Staff and visitors have been welcoming the Southern White Rhino calf to the Burford-based animal park.

Ian is the first male rhino born at the park, on its 45th anniversary of opening.

Cotswold Wildlife Park curator Jamie Craig said: "Although we were expecting the birth, it still took us by surprise at the time.

"After careful preparations for a nice, quiet arrival, Ian was born in full view of many of the staff here at lunchtime on Friday – an experience we will never forget.

"Although still very early days, he seems strong and Ruby appears to be an attentive mother."

By Adam Flinn
adam@taylornewspapers.co.uk

Ian is named after South African conservationist Ian Player, who spearheaded efforts to rescue Southern White Rhinos from extinction.

A female rhino, Astrid, was born at the park on July 1, 2013 to mother Nancy and father Monty – also the father to Ian.

Female rhinos only reproduce every two and a half years, so the window for successful mating is limited.

Southern White Rhinos were one of the rarest rhinos, and were on the verge of extinction in the early 1900s when it was thought that less than 50 were left in the wild.

But they are now thriving thanks to improved protection in their homelands of Africa.

Teaming up with Cotswold District Council, Forest of Dean District Council, Cheltenham Borough Council and Tewkesbury Borough Council, WODC hopes to save £60,000 a year.

Frank Wilson, strategic director of WODC, said: "For residents, it will be business as usual and there will be no change in services provided."

The male inpatient health ward has organised the event, which will see a group of people collectively cycle 100 virtual miles in eight hours on two static exercise bikes.

Caroline Attard, the ward's modern matron, said: "This is a great way for our patients to get something that they want and can use on the ward."

Man punched in bus stop robbery

POLICE are appealing for witnesses after a 22-year-old man was punched while waiting at a bus stop in Wood Farm Road in Oxford on Saturday.

At around 3pm, the victim was sitting on a bench when a man got off a bus on the opposite side of the road, crossed over and approached the victim.

He took the victim's phone and demanded money if he wanted it back.

He then punched the victim, who handed over cash, before throwing the phone on the ground and trying to get on a bus.

The bus did not stop, and the offender chased it on to The Slade.

The victim was uninjured.

The man is described as black, 6ft 6ins tall, in his mid-20s, with a large nose, short black hair, trimmed beard and was wearing blue jeans, white trainers and a jacket.

Investigating officer PC Helen Burns said: "I would like to speak to anyone with any information about the incident or anyone who saw what happened as they could have details which will help with the investigation.

"This appears to be an isolated incident. If anyone has any concerns, please call 101."

Cloudy2Clear Windows – Service With A Smile!

It's been a crazy few months for Cloudy2Clear Windows. The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes – not the frames has grown rapidly as homeowners take advantage of their services.

Managing Director James Miller feels that it's all about service. 'Our product is simple. If your double glazing is misted up we can replace the glass at a fraction of the cost of a new window, in any type of frame, and with a new 10 year guarantee. But it's not just about saving people money, although that obviously helps.

Many tradespeople have struggled since last year and I honestly feel that during the good times a minority perhaps didn't focus on customer care as much as they should have done. We make sure we turn up when we say we will, do the job the customer requires and leave their house as clean as a whistle. I often get comments back from customers on how they really didn't expect that sort of service which, in a way, is very sad for the service industry as a whole.'

Cloudy2Clear service Oxfordshire from their local depots and James is finding that his approach is a major factor in his success. 'The truthis that it's not just the personal satisfaction that I get from doing a good job but also it makes good business sense. I get a huge amount of business from friends and family of people I've done work for, which just goes to show how much a little bit of effort is appreciated.'

So, if your windows are steamed up, broken or damaged give James a call for a free quotation on 0800 61 21 118 and he'll be happy to help!

Violent games not linked to child's bad behaviour

By Adam Flinn
adam@taylornewspapers.co.uk

CHILDREN who play violent video games are no more likely to suffer from real-life aggression than those who do not, researchers at Oxford University have claimed.

Instead of the type of games children play, researchers said aggression is in fact linked to the length of time they play games for.

They added that those who play for more than three hours a day are more likely to be hyperactive, get involved in fights and lose interest in school.

However low levels of play – less than an hour a day – could be beneficial to behaviour.

Lead author of the study, Dr Andrew Przybylski, said: "We can see links between some types of games and children's behaviour, as well as time spent playing.

"However, we cannot say that game play causes good or bad behaviour, and we also know that the risks attached to game-playing are small.

"A range of other factors in a child's life will influence their behaviour more as this research suggests that playing electronic games may be a statistically significant but minor factor in how children progress academically or in their emotional wellbeing."

The study found that no game features encountered by young people could be linked with negative behaviour, although some aspects of games could lead to positive behaviour.

Children who played games on their own were found to do well academically, displayed fewer emotional problems and got into fewer fights.

Results came from teachers reporting on children's behaviour at school, as well as from the children themselves.

Co-author Allison Mishkin said: "These results highlight that playing video games may just be another style of play that children engage with in the digital age."

She added: "The benefits felt from the act of playing rather than the medium itself is the significant factor."

Pool campaigners present petition

A CAMPAIGN group fighting to keep the open air pool in Abbey Meadow open has handed over a petition of more than 2,000 signatures to Vale of White Horse District Council.

Friends of Abbey Meadow Outdoor Pool delivered the petition to the council offices at Abbey House in Abingdon on Tuesday.

It coincided with the end of the council's consultation into the development of the Abbey Meadow, in which residents have been voting for their preferred choice from three scenarios to upgrade the site.

Naomi Richardson, who set up the petition, said: "I thought that the quality of the consultation was very poor and was biased against the pool.

"The starting point of any process should include the outdoor pool as a key feature.

"It has been run down over many years and needs investment, but if properly developed it could be a wonderful asset for Abingdon and bring a lot of business to the town in the slow summer months."

A statement from the council said: "The consultation was conducted as a free and open vote on three options for Abbey Meadow, which were chosen based on ideas and feedback from community groups.

"It included a drop-in shop in Abingdon where people could come and visit to speak to officers about the three options."

Housing protests are coming to Wantage

By Adam Flinn
adam@taylornewspapers.co.uk

HUNDREDS of campaigners will take to the streets of Wantage on Sunday to voice concerns about planned housing developments in the area around the town.

Around 500 people are expected to take part in the Rural Oxfordshire Action Rally (ROAR) in Wantage Market Place to protest against what they say is a lack of planned infrastructure needed to support an extra 5,000 residents over the next five years.

Schools, healthcare and roads are their biggest concerns, as well as the rural character of the area.

Wantage's parliamentary candidates and ROAR chairman Peter Jay will address the crowds during the demonstration, running from 11am to 1pm.

Julie Mabberley, campaign manager of the Wantage and Grove Campaign Group, said: "We are not against new developments but we believe that not enough thought has been given to the impact that they will have.

"The number of planned developments in and around Wantage continues to grow at an alarming rate and we are fearful for our communities.

"This is not just for the drastic and irreversible change that such large scale developments will have on our countryside, but the intolerable pressure it will put on the existing infrastructure.

"If we are getting more than five per cent of the new homes in Oxfordshire, we need to have at least five per cent of the investment in infrastructure that the county receives."

This will be the second ROAR rally to be staged in Oxfordshire, after a previous event was held in Witney in January.

Mr Jay said: "We're staging the rally in order to draw attention to our alarm and concern about the rash of development projects all over Oxfordshire.

"We are an informal gathering of citizens and action groups who have come together spontaneously since the autumn in order to tell the world about this problem and to attract support to fight against it.

"We've already had a rally in Witney, and we expect probably to have other rallies."

New Year rapist now behind bars

A MAN who repeatedly raped and sexually assaulted a teenager in Bicester on New Year's Day 2014 has been jailed for eight years.

Shaun Allman, 24, of Lammas Gardens in Nottingham, was sentenced after a jury found him guilty by a majority verdict of 10 to two at Oxford Crown Court.

The court heard that he had raped and sexually assaulted an 18-year-old woman repeatedly on January 1, 2014.

He was found not guilty of a third charge of sexual assault.

On March 30 Allman was sentenced to eight years behind bars for each of the rapes and 18 months imprisonment for each of the sexual assaults, to run concurrently.

He was also ordered to sign on to the sex offenders register for life.

Pop-up shops coming to Wallingford

RESIDENTS and businesses are being offered the chance to run their own shop in Wallingford until September.

South Oxfordshire District Council has started a pop-up shop initiative in the town, which would see empty premises taken over by retailers for a temporary period.

They are given a short-term lease to give them a taste of running a town centre shop, which could then lead to them taking on a site on a longer-term basis.

A similar scheme is currently in operation in Wantage, which has seen dozens of businesses make use of formerly empty retail space.

Kate Rayner, market town co-ordinator for Wallingford, said: "Anyone who would like to take up this fantastic retail opportunity in Wallingford town centre should get in touch.

"We're really looking for new and exciting ideas that wish to find a new audience and also to help generate interest in the town and bring more people to shop locally."

Anyone interested in setting up a pop-up shop in Wallingford is asked to contact Iain Nicholson by calling 07930 453883 or emailing iain@prbi.co.uk.

Drug dealing brothers jailed for nine years

By Adam Flinn
adam@taylornewspapers.co.uk

TWO brothers from Oxfordshire have been jailed for a total of nine years after pleading guilty to a substantial drug dealing operation.

Patrick Gray, 37, of Radford Close in Oxford and Richard Gray, 25, of Stenter Rise in Witney, were found by police to have been hiding huge amounts of crack cocaine, heroin and cocaine at rural locations in Oxfordshire.

At Oxford Crown Court last Wednesday Patrick Gray was sentenced to five and a half years in prison, while Richard Gray was given a three and a half year sentence.

They had both pleaded guilty to one count of conspiring together to supply class A drugs at the same court on March 20.

Oxford local policing area commander, Supt Christian Bunt, said: "This successful conviction follows on from the sentencing last month in which nine men, including a third Gray brother, were put behind bars for their roles in drug supply across Oxfordshire.

"This sentencing should reassure the community that Thames Valley Police continues to do all we can to dismantle the drug supply networks in Oxfordshire, disrupt this criminal activity and protect our communities."

During a search of Richard Gray's home, police found £4,383.55 and €1,005 in cash hidden in a cupboard, along with weighing scales and heat sealing/wrapping equipment.

Investigating officer Det Insp Rachel Wheatman said: "Our investigation revealed that the Gray brothers were running a substantial drug dealing operation across Oxfordshire.

"Heroin, crack cocaine and cocaine have a devastating impact on the lives of those who consume these illegal substances and their families.

"The damage done to the community by criminals like the Grays is immense.

"I am pleased that Thames Valley Police has succeeded in bringing them to justice and they will now spend a significant amount of time behind bars."

Vampire alert: At last - a job for you!

On Saturday and Sunday 18th and 19th April Geopace Training are returning to Oxford with their ever popular phlebotomy training course.

Phlebotomists are the skilled healthcare professionals who take your blood. There are no entry requirements or qualifications to start working as a trainee phlebotomist and many people enter the profession when they are looking for a career change. "We train people from all walks of life and all ages" comments Jennie Eagleton, office manager. "We've had bricklayers, shop assistants, receptionists, beauticians and dental nurses, as well as unemployed, school leavers and retired" says Jennie. "JobCentre Plus often put people on our courses too".

It's a little known fact that there are no formal qualifications for phlebotomists, who routinely work in GP Surgeries, Hospitals and Clinics. Once on the NHS healthcare career ladder ambition often drives many to progress to working in the labs.

Many hundreds of Geopace trainees are now working as phlebotomists throughout the UK and some have chosen to work abroad where, like the UK, there is a shortage and growing demand for this specialised skill.

If you love or have ever fancied a career in healthcare and like the idea of the job security offered by the NHS then this may be just the job for you. Training takes place over two full days and culminates in the award of a nationally recognised and accredited certificate. "We practice on artificial arms", says Jennie. "And all our students have a lot of fun learning. We get a great deal of satisfaction when we later learn that they are working in their local hospital or GP Surgery".

If you would like to know more about phlebotomy as a career then visit Geopace's website at www.geopace.com. A link to the NHS jobs guide for phlebotomists is also available on the site. To enrol on the April course you can book online or book by telephoning the office on 01525 713377.

Research at 5,000m for uni student James

A STUDENT from Oxford has set up camp 5,000m above sea level in the Himalayas as part of a research expedition investigating altitude sickness.

James Pollard (pictured below), a former d'Overbroeck's College pupil and now a sports science student at Bangor University, has been in the south-Asian mountain range since March 20.

He is part of a 55-strong team comprised of doctors, scientists and mountain rescuers who are testing the sources of stress and working at altitude until April 25.

Their camp is more than halfway up the 8,000m tall Manaslu mountain, where they have set up labs for the project.

By Adam Flinn
adam@taylornewspapers.co.uk

Before leaving, James said: "This is a fantastic opportunity as an undergraduate student to be involved in a valuable research project.

"It will have the impact to allow us to educate mountaineers, trekkers and their doctors about the nature and avoidance of altitude related illness.

"And being part of a talented team to trek in the Himalayas is an experience in itself."

James will be following in the footsteps of his dad, an Oxford University professor, who has also been part of an expedition in the Himalayas to research high altitude medicine.

"In the long-term I'm interested in getting into physio or rehab physio work," James added.

"The expedition should help me find out more about research into altitude sickness.

"I'll also be basing my third year project on what I do during the expedition, so it should be an exciting experience."

Residents benefit from solar panels

SOLAR panels have been installed on 30 council houses in Rose Hill as part of a £1.2million project to improve the use of green energy.

Oxford City Council funded the upfront cost of £123,000 for the panels, and expects to receive an income of £230,000 over the next 20 years.

It is part of a wider project by energy charity Bioregional, who are looking to invest £1.2m in Rose Hill over the next two years to fit battery storage units to capture energy and save residents money.

As well as the panels, the city council has also spent £350,000 on 50 of its houses to install external wall insulation.

John Tanner, the council's board member for Cleaner, Greener Oxford, said: "These schemes are great news for our housing tenants and for Oxford as a whole.

"Tenants benefit from free electricity and dramatically reduced energy bills.

"The council gets an income and it all helps to reduce the city's carbon footprint, creating a cleaner, greener city for everyone."

Competition

WIN tickets to see The Audience in London's West End

WIN tickets to see Kristin Scott Thomas in a new version of Peter Morgan's smash-hit play, directed by Stephen Daldry. The critically acclaimed production returns to the West End for a limited season from 21 April 2015.

For sixty years Elizabeth II has met each of her twelve Prime Ministers in a weekly audience at Buckingham Palace – a meeting like no other in British public life – it is private. Both parties have an unspoken agreement never to repeat what is said. Not even to their spouses.

The Audience breaks this contract of silence – and imagines a series of pivotal meetings between the Downing Street incumbents and their Queen. From Churchill to Cameron, each Prime Minister has used these private conversations as a sounding board and a confessional – sometimes intimate, sometimes explosive.

Closing date:
Friday, April 10, 2015

We have two pairs of tickets for this amazing production and if you want to be in with a chance of winning a pair all you have to do is answer this simple question:

Q: At which London theatre will The Audience be performed?

For more information and to buy tickets to the show please visit: www.TheAudiencePlay.com

Terms And Conditions.

Each prize consists of two tickets (usual value £62.50 per ticket) to THE AUDIENCE at the Apollo Theatre, Shaftesbury Avenue, London. Tickets are valid for Monday – Wednesday performances at 7.30pm from Tuesday 21st April to Monday 4th May only.

All elements of the prize are strictly subject to availability and are non-transferable. All prize elements must be redeemed on the same date. Any additional expenses incurred over and above the prize element must be covered by the winner. The cost of travel is not included in the prize.

Winners will be contacted and informed via email on Monday, April 13 and all tickets will be held at the theatre box office under the winner's name for collection on the day of the performance. Please collect tickets within one hour of the performance starting.

Sudoku

The objective is to fill a 9×9 grid with digits so that each column, each row, and each of the nine 3×3 sub-grids that compose the grid (also called "boxes", "blocks", "regions", or "sub-squares") contains all of the digits from 1 to 9. The puzzle setter provides a partially completed grid, which for a well-posed puzzle has a unique solution.

6.30 Golf: The Masters Live Continued. Hazel Irvine introduces coverage of the fourth and final day from the Augusta National in Georgia, as the opening Major of the year reaches a conclusion. America's Bubba Watson secured his second title in three years here 12 months ago, finishing three strokes clear of compatriot Jordan Spieth and Sweden's Jonas Blixt. England's Lee Westwood was the highest-placed British player in seventh place, with Northern Ireland's world number one Rory McIlroy and 57-year-old German Bernhard Langer among those one shot behind him. The drought for British winners here goes all the way back to 1996, when Nick Faldo secured the third of his Green Jackets, and despite a strong representation among the world's elite, European golfers have also struggled to make their mark here for a surprisingly long time. With commentary by Peter Alliss, Ken Brown, Andrew Cotter and Paul Azinger. Subsequent programmes subject to change. (S)

Carr stops off in Oxford

REGARDED as one of the most successful and funniest comedians in recent times, Jimmy Carr will be at The New Theatre Oxford this Saturday, April 11.

The 42-year-old, who also works as a television presenter and occasional actor, arrives at the George Street theatre as part of his 'Funny Business' tour which hit the roads at the end of last year.

And despite being known for his clever wit and distinctive high pitch laugh, the comic has also made the odd contentious gag about sensitive subjects.

However, Jimmy believes that discussing taboo subjects is part of the world of comedy.

"Comedy is all about building up tension and then the release of that pressure. That's what a laugh is, the pressure valve bursting," Jimmy said.

By James Richings
jamesr@taylornewspapers.co.uk

"Talking about taboo topics is a fast way to build tension and the more tension, the more laughs.

"I'd also say that one of my favourite sounds in the world is the laughter turning into shock.

"Laughter is instinctive – you don't make an intellectual decision about what you laugh at as it's like a reflex. After you laugh is when the moral compass kicks in and you start to wander 'should I be laughing at that?' But by then it's too late, you already have."

After achieving four As in his A Levels, the comic decided to read political science at Cambridge University where he graduated with a 2:1 in 1993, before accepting a job with an international firm to work in marketing.

However, at the age of 26, the comic stated that he suffered from 'an early midlife crisis', which is when he decided to take a chance at comedy to see where it would lead him.

He has now gone onto present high profile television shows such as '8 out of 10 Cats' and 'The Big Fat Quiz of the Year', write and tour 11 different shows since his debut tour back in 2003, whilst going onto win 10 different comedic awards since 2002.

"I didn't realise becoming a stand-up was an option as a job," Jimmy said.

"My dream as a child was to play at Wimbledon.

"The closest I've got so far is watching Andy Murray win it, which I think is probably good enough."

He added: "For some comedians, creating a show is very much a case of having a flash of inspiration and then building a show around that one idea, but my process isn't like that at all.

"For this tour I will have probably written in the region of 1,000 jokes, but only use about 250.

"I think the trick to this job, if there is one, is to be writing constantly.

"Chuck Close once said that 'inspiration is for amateurs, I just get to work' – I think that's a great attitude to have."

The show starts at 8pm and tickets cost £31.75.

It is suitable for anyone over the age of 16.

Let's Dance to The Wombats

FOLLOWING the success of their first two albums, indie rock band The Wombats are back with their latest record to perform at Oxford's O2 Academy next Wednesday, April 15, as part of their colossal world tour.

By James Richings
jamesr@taylornewspapers.co.uk

Their latest album 'Glitterburg', which will be released two days before the trio's appearance at the Cowley Road venue, will be the group's third album since their 2007 debut album, 'A Guide to Love, Loss & Desperation'.

Their second album, 'The Modern Glitch' peaked at number three in the charts four years later.

Drummer, percussionist, keyboard player and backing vocalist Dan Haggis revealed to the Guardian why only three albums have been released in the last eight years.

"We tour for at least 18 months after we release an album, then we take a few months to get back to some sort of normality before starting to write for a new album," Dan said.

"We usually write 20 to 30 songs for an album then choose the best ones, so we spend a long time making songs.

"This album would've been released sooner but the producer we worked with (Mark Crew of Bastille) was busy with various projects, so we had to slot into his schedule and do a week or two at a time over four months instead of just doing six weeks solid.

"Anyway, we just want our albums to be as good as possible so if we have to wait a few extra months to get it right, then it's worth it."

The group, who are known for their hits such as 'Kill the Director' and 'Let's Dance to Joy Division', revealed the inspiration behind the album name, and how they all met.

"We met in Liverpool at the music school, LIPA, in 2003 and just enjoyed making music and playing shows together," said Dan.

We've never had a 'master plan'. We've always just tried to write the best songs we can and hope they mean something to somebody somewhere.

"And with 'Glitterburg', it seemed to sum up somehow the feel of this album. It was originally the title of a song that didn't end up on the album."

This gig has now sold out, but you can call the O2 Academy on 01865 813500 if tickets become available.

Timandra's Brainsex

TIMANDRA Harkness' new show Brainsex, a light-hearted look at human behaviour and the brain, is coming to the Cornerstone Arts Centre in Didcot tomorrow evening, April 10.

Originally a stand-up comedienne, Timandra revealed that she began to get bored of the profession as she was doing 'the same as everyone else' - telling jokes about sex, drinking and discussing the differences between men and women.

So when the performer decided that a change of material was necessary, a brainwave hit.

She created 'Timandra Harkness: Brainsex', which received four star reviews at the 2013 Edinburgh Fringe Festival and at the 2014 Bath Comedy Festival.

"I started doing comedy about science instead, because I thought it was more interesting," Timandra told the Guardian.

"Then, ironically, I came across some psychologists and brain scientists who were doing research into whether the differences between sexes are because we are biologically different, as our brains are physically different.

By James Richings
jamesr@taylornewspapers.co.uk

"Even though I was sceptical, I thought it was a very interesting question.

"So in a way I've come full circle. Only now it's a show about the difference between men and women that has brain scans and graphs with a neuroscientist on hand to explain things to us!"

Split into five different sections, the audience will learn about the brain in a unique and unorthodox show, which has been directed by award winning director Delyth Jones.

Brain scientist, science consultant and musical director Dr Martin Coath will also be in the production, explaining to the audience about the complex mechanisms of the organ, whilst creator Timandra is there to add in the comedy.

And despite the full on nature of the show, Timandra believes the show will be popular with many families.

"It's a very inclusive show," she explained.

"We've had groups of teenagers, families with kids, mates of all ages and sexes along with couples on a night out.

"I don't think we've had a stag or hen party yet but they'd probably find something in it for them."

"It's not even that rude, so you could bring your kid. However, the comedy is not really written for children so they might be a bit baffled sometimes.

"You don't need to be particularly science-minded either, though if you are, I am ready for every possible factual heckle."

Once the show at the Station Road theatre is over, Timandra and the team will move north of the county to perform in Chipping Norton on May 7.

Tickets cost from £13.50 to £15, with the show starting at 8pm.

Call 01235 515144 for further details or to book.

TRY ORIENTEERING AT SHOTOVER COUNTRY PARK
"If you fancy a new outdoor activity for all the family, why not give orienteering a go. This event is organised by Thames Valley Orienteering Club and it's ideal for families and children. There will be several courses and plenty of help on hand for newcomers. There will be six courses to choose from, from 1km up to 5km, taking around 30-75 mins to complete, plus a special string course for very young children, where they follow a line of string to find fun characters. If you've never tried orienteering before, it's a bit like a treasure hunt to find a series of checkpoints around your chosen course. They're marked by flags on the ground and you register each one with an electronic timing chip to record your progress, and prove you've been to them! The challenge arises by there being no set route between the checkpoints and you have to choose your own way, using a detailed orienteering map of the park. This is part of a series of four events around Oxford:
Saturday 14 February - Hill End
Saturday 14 March - Cutteslowe Park
Saturday 11 April - Shotover Country Park
Saturday 16 May - University Parks
It's great fun and the events are supported by Oxford City Council and Up and Running in Oxford, who have supplied some great prizes.
Come along any time between 10.00am to 11.30am and don't forget your sense of adventure! The cost is £6 per family group, or £2 for solo juniors.

Ford celebrate EcoBoost engine milestone

FORD Motor Company are celebrating a manufacturing milestone for its fuel-saving EcoBoost petrol engines this year, as five million have been produced globally since the engine line was launched back in 2009.

First used in Europe one year after its inception, EcoBoost-equipped vehicles last year accounted for one in four new Ford vehicles sold in the region, with the most popular engine proving to be the 1.0-litre EcoBoost.

In 2014, it was also the first engine to be named as International Engine of the Year three times in a row.

Over the last five years, more than 230,000 Ford vehicles sold in Europe were equipped with the 1.0-litre engine that is now available in 10 different models - from Fiesta to Mondeo.

Vice-president product development, Ford of Europe Joe Bakaj said: "Ford EcoBoost delivers great performance with lower fuel bills, a recipe which is proving incredibly popular with consumers in Europe and around the world.

"EcoBoost engines have proved a gamechanging technology that are attracting new customers to the Ford brand every day."

REVIEW: Ford Fiesta

By James Richings

Downsized EcoBoost engines combine surprising power with excellent fuel efficiency through direct fuel injection, turbocharging and variable valve timing.

Available in Europe in the Fiesta Red and Black Edition models since last year, Ford's 140 PS 1.0-litre EcoBoost is the most powerful 1.0-litre volume production car engine ever, with EcoBoost technology also powering the all new Ford Mustang.

The new 314 PS 2.3-litre EcoBoost engine accounted for half of all models configured online during Mustang's first month.

The five millionth vehicle to be produced was a 1.0-litre Ford Focus that rolled off the assembly line at the Michigan Assembly Plant, in the United States.

This most recent production milestone constitutes another step forward in the One Ford plan to drive innovation across the company's global product portfolio.

U's cruise toward safety with victory

By Matthew Bruce

OXFORD United's Football League status is all but secure after a shock 3-2 win at high-flying Wycombe Wanderers on Good Friday, followed by a goalless home draw with York City on Easter Monday.

United are now 11 points and seven places clear of the Sky Bet League 2 drop zone, with five games remaining.

Few suspected the vital win which would guide the U's up the table would come at third-placed Wycombe, who went into the match unbeaten in their last eight games.

But the visitors roared into a two-goal lead thanks to the efforts of Kemar Roofe and Danny Rose and although Paul Hayes pulled one back for the Chairboys, a second from Roofe put the match beyond them.

Aaron Holloway netted a second for Wycombe in the dying moments, but Oxford hung on to claim an unlikely 3-2 victory.

They followed that up on Monday with a hard-fought 0-0 draw at home to York City in front of a bumper Kassam Stadium crowd of more than 9,000.

Captain Jake Wright enjoyed playing for Oxford's biggest home crowd of the season.

"It was a good atmosphere," Wright told the club.

"I really enjoyed today with a big crowd, it looked so good to see people in the seats and a lot of kids and things like that.

"It was important we didn't get beaten and that's seven points from our last nine, so we'll take that."

Head coach Michael Appleton added: "We had the best three opportunities of the game and a couple of very good ones as it was as well.

"We're happy with a clean sheet – we would have been happier to score one or two goals, but we'll take that."

United travel to AFC Wimbledon on Saturday, followed by a reunion with former manager Chris Wilder as they host Northampton Town on Tuesday.

Browne and Rowley set to leave Welsh

LOCK Peter Browne and scrum-half Paul Rowley are set to leave London Welsh after signing for Guinness Pro 12 side Ulster.

Browne has made 12 appearances for the Exiles this season, having also helped Welsh to promotion from the Greene King IPA Championship last term.

Rowley has featured 17 times for Welsh this season after signing in the summer from Plymouth Albion.

With Welsh's relegation straight back to the Championship having already been confirmed following their 29-14 home defeat to Bath, Browne and Rowley have opted for a move to the Northern Irish club.

They join former All Black Piri Weepu out of the door, with the scrum-half departing in February to finish the season at Wasps, who are the visitors to the Kassam Stadium on Sunday as Welsh resume their search for a first Aviva Premiership victory of the season.

Opeti Fonua, Carl Kirwan and Taione Vea will also leave the club in the summer.

Head coach Justin Burnell was replaced by Rowland Phillips last month.

Late Marlon Jackson header keeps City in play-off mix

OXFORD City's faint hopes of reaching the Conference North play-offs remain intact thanks to a last-minute winner from winger Marlon Jackson.

City missed their best opportunity to close the gap on the play-off positions as they were held to a 0-0 draw at home to fellow challengers Boston United on Saturday.

Luke Coulson crashed a header off the bar for City as they found themselves frustrated by an organised Boston outfit, finding their route to goal blocked at every turn.

But they kept their hopes alive with a dramatic 2-1 victory at Stockport County on Monday.

City bossed the first half at Edgeley Park and created numerous openings, but were let down by their finishing.

They finally edged themselves in front when Jeremy Balmy broke up the right and pulled the ball back for Tom Winters, who touched it on to top scorer Adi Yussuf to stroke home.

But the visitors were pegged back against the run of play on the stroke of half-time when Chris Churchman fired in from the edge of the area to score.

City struggled after the break and a draw looked likely, but in the 88th minute Jackson leaped highest to head home a Winters cross at the near post and rekindle their faltering play-off challenge.

City are at home to Harrogate Town on Saturday as they look to close the four-point gap to fifth-placed Guiseley.

London Welsh look ahead with new forwards coach

JAMES Buckland has been appointed as forwards coach at London Welsh until the end of the season.

Former Exiles hooker Buckland left London Scottish in January after 11 months as head coach and rejoins Welsh, having been part of the coaching set-up during their previous stint in the Aviva Premiership.

Buckland made eight appearances for Welsh as a player, the most recent coming during a spell on loan from London Irish in the 2009-10 season.

Welsh director of rugby Steve Lewis said: "James has been on our radar for some time and I am very pleased that he has agreed to join Rowland (Phillips, head coach)'s coaching team.

"He brings a lot of technical knowledge of the set-piece, and we are already seeing the benefits of his experience among the players within these areas."

Buckland added: "The invitation to join London Welsh until the end of the season was one I was delighted to accept, and I'm very grateful to have the opportunity to test myself in a Premiership environment.

"Despite the club's league position I've encountered a positive environment.

"The players are all eager and willing to work hard to improve their game and to keep fighting right to the end of the season."

Buckland had been involved in Welsh's preparations prior to their previous match at home to Bath, but Sunday's home clash against Wasps will mark his first in an official coaching capacity.

Meanwhile, assistant coach Matthew Ferguson has left the London Welsh after just ten months.

Ferguson was appointed last June ahead of the start of the Exiles' ultimately doomed Premiership campaign.

He leaves just a month after the departure of head coach Justin Burnell, who was replaced by Rowland Phillips.

Beer joins Oxfordshire county squad

OXFORDSHIRE men's cricket team play their first match this Sunday, and have announced that long-serving Sussex player Will Beer will join their ranks for 2015.

The 26-year-old leg spinning all-rounder joins the side ahead of Oxfordshire's friendly away to Bedfordshire this weekend.

Beer has been a dependable player for Sussex, having taken 50 wickets in 64 Twenty20 matches.

And Oxfordshire's captain Luke Ryan hopes that Beer's appointment will help the squad with the availability problems they suffered with last year.

He said: "Will has been put forward because of the high standards of professionalism and to fill a specific gap in our squad.

"I am convinced that our most experienced players and our youngsters alike will benefit greatly from playing alongside first-class county players.

"We will continue to fast-track our best young talent into the senior team at every opportunity."

It was also revealed last week that Jonny Cater has been made vice-captain of Oxfordshire, four years after making his debut in the side.

Ryan added: "Jonny has been fantastic for Oxfordshire in the past three seasons, a solid keeper and a batsman that has the potential to take the game from the opposition."

Plato's Puncture heartache

A LATE-RACE puncture robbed Jason Plato of victory in the first round of the British Touring Car Championship at Brands Hatch on Sunday.

The Oxford-born racing driver was in a comfortable lead with four laps to go in race two, when his tyre burst sending him into the gravel traps at the first corner.

It also ruined his chances in the third race, as he had to start from almost the back of the grid.

He managed to fight his way up to 16th, but fell short of scoring any points.

But there was some success in race one, as Plato picked up a podium for third behind teammate Aron Smith in second and race winner Rob Collard.

"I haven't had time to fully digest the weekend yet, but it's full of positives," said Plato.

"These kind of weekends happen from time to time – we could have had three podiums, but we're still in good spirits."

The results meant that Plato finished the day 13th in the championship standings with 15 points, but after a competitive first round is only 22 points behind current leader Matt Neal.

He returns to action for the next round at Donington Park on April 19.

Williams and Lotus ready for action

OXFORDSHIRE'S Formula One teams Williams and Lotus are on the lookout for points at this Sunday's Chinese Grand Prix.

Grove-based Williams will be hoping to improve on their drivers' results, as Valtteri Bottas finished fifth and Felipe Massa right behind in sixth at the last race in Malaysia.

Despite collecting a strong haul of points, Williams were some way back from the pace-setting Ferrari and Mercedes.

Rob Smedley, head of vehicle performance at Williams, said: "We have a few upgrades coming to the FW37 that we are expecting to deliver an increase in performance.

"There is always a high probability of rain, so we will also need to be prepared for this possible curveball."

Enstone-based Lotus is hoping for better luck to score their first points of 2015.

Romain Grosjean was just outside the points in Malaysia in 11th, while Pastor Maldonado had to park his car with brake problems.

Deputy team principal Federico Gastaldi said: "We have the pace so we just need to be there in the correct position when the chequered flag falls.

"Both Pastor and Romain are operating at the top of their games so it's just a question of having a race without any issues or contact from other cars."

New coach

FOOTBALL: Oxford United Women have announced that their former midfielder Natasha Caswell has returned to the side as an attacking coach.

Caswell joined United in 2011, helping the club win promotion to the Women's Super League 2 before her retirement in May last year.

She said: "I'm delighted with the opportunity to work with the first team – I know the players and staff well and I'm excited to get started."

United play Yeovil Town Ladies in their next match on Sunday.

Smith ready

MOTOGP: Fresh from finishing eighth in the season opener at Qatar last weekend, Oxford MotoGP ace Bradley Smith returns to action at the Circuit of the Americas this Sunday.

Smith put in a strong performance to finish in the top-10 last time out, and will want to emulate his fifth-place finish at the Texan track from last year.

He said: "I like the track with its good mixture of tight and meandering corners, plus the big climb on the pit straight is awesome to experience."

Oxford RL lose

RUGBY LEAGUE: It was a disappointing start to the Kingstone Press League 1 season for Oxford last Friday, as they were beaten 32-10 away to Coventry Bears.

It means that after the first game, Oxford find themselves second bottom of the league standings on points difference.

They will hope for a better showing in their next match, at home to York City Knights, on Sunday.

Kidlington fight back

TEN-MAN Kidlington came back from two goals behind to draw 3-3 at home to Ardley United on Monday in the Hellenic League Premier Division.

Despite taking an early lead through Jack Quainton, the hosts had found themselves 3-1 down.

Already-relegated Shrivenham were hammered 6-0 at home to Highworth Town, while Thame United were beaten 4-1 at Oxford City Nomads.

Thame were beaten 3-2 at home to Brimscombe & Thrupp on Saturday.

Oxford City Nomads secured a point as they recovered a two-goal deficit to draw 2-2 at Wootton Bassett Town.

In Division 1 West, North Leigh United were beaten 5-2 by Tuffley Rovers, Hook Norton beat Fairford United 2-1 and Carterton won 5-4 at home to Wantage Town Reserves.

HALF-TON UP FOR MILLS

Star striker notches up 50 goals for Didcot Town

By Matthew Bruce
news@taylornewspapers.co.uk

JOHN Mills reached a half-century of goals with an astounding six strikes over the Easter weekend to keep Didcot Town's Southern League Division 1 South & West play-off challenge alive.

Mills hit four goals in the Railwaymen's 5-0 thrashing of Bashley on Saturday to take his tally for the season past the 50 mark and then netted twice more to give Didcot a 2-2 draw at North Leigh on Monday.

Joint manager Ian Concannonn hailed his star striker's remarkable accomplishment.

He said: "It's a great achievement, a fantastic achievement - he's done well all season, to be honest.

"He's scoring goals almost every game and he's up to 55 now after this weekend, so you wouldn't bet against him getting to 60 by the end of the season.

"The rest of the team behind him have been fantastic, creating lots of chances for him and I know John appreciates that."

Five points separate Didcot from Larkhall Athletic in the final play-off spot, with Monday's draw bringing the Railwaymen a point closer as Larkhall were surprisingly beaten 3-0 by Yate Town.

With just three matches remaining, including a trip to form side Evesham United on Saturday, Concannon acknowledged his side faced a tough battle to overhaul them.

"I think we need nine points from our last three games realistically," he said.

"There's no guarantee nine points will even be enough, but that's as much as we can do. There's not a lot we can worry about with regard to other teams, so we just have to do what we can.

"We just want it to go down to the last game now, the lads know they have everything to play for."
